

Mark Madsen

2001 SRVHS ATHLETIC HALL OF FAME

Mark Madsen, Class of 1994:

Mark Madsen attended San Ramon High School from 1991 until graduation in 1994. Mr. Madsen played three seasons of basketball for the San Ramon High School team placing in the top four at NCS all three seasons. He was named All-League for 2 seasons, competed at the state level for Most Points Scored.

Madsen caught the attention of all the major colleges during his illustrious career at San Ramon Valley High School. His performance made him stand out among some of the top rated players in the country. He helped lead San Ramon to the state championship and shot 73 percent from the floor. Mark graduated from San Ramon with a 3.70 GPA and was student body president.

He gained numerous post-season honors, including all-league, MVP, San Francisco Examiner Player of the Year during his senior season in the inaugural East-West Nations High School Coaches Association game in Atlanta. He was named one of the top 100 players in the country.

Mr. Madsen went on to attend Stanford University on an athletic scholarship and was a 4-year starter at Stanford. Among his many accomplishments at Stanford:

- Named Third Team All-America
- Named Second Team All-America
- Named to the 10-member John Wooden All-America Team
- Twice named to the All-Pac-10 First Team during his career
- Named First Team CoSIDA Academic All-America
- First Team All Pac-10 Academic selection
- Finished career with 857 rebounds, sixth-best in Stanford history
- Played in the Final Four

After graduating from Stanford, Mark was drafted in the first round (29th pick overall) in the 2000 NBA draft at the Los Angeles Lakers. Mr. Madsen is an outstanding leader, mentor to inner-city youth and well known for his giving back to the community.